PARTNERING for GREATER IMPACT

We do nothing alone at the Community Foundation for Northern Virginia. We have learned that the only way to further our mission of growing philanthropy to help meet the most critical needs of the community is to partner with like minded individual, corporate, and foundation donors. The desire to partner for greater impact is embedded in our culture and is a prime directive of our current strategic plan. This Annual Report therefore highlights the many examples of how, when, and to what effect the Community Foundation has developed partnerships in the past year that actually level the playing field for our neediest neighbors, relieve the suffering caused by poverty, and advance the region through philanthropy. During 2015:

We partnered to develop venture philanthropy that launched the very first cyber security course of study in Prince William County Public Schools.

We partnered with the Community Foundation for Loudoun and Northern Fauquier Counties to co-sponsor the Loudoun Impact Fund and grow its capacity to address the most critical needs of Loudoun County.

We partnered with members of our Business Women's Giving Circle to invest in local women and girls who need a leg up in school and in their careers.

Lynn Tadlock
Chair of the Board of Directors

Eileen Ellsworth
President

We partnered with over 150 young professionals through our Future Fund to improve access to mental health care services in Northern Virginia.

We partnered with the Fairfax County Successful Children and Youth Policy Team (SCYPT)* to learn the elements of successful cross sector collaborations that can improve outcomes for all children, cradle to career.

We partnered with professional advisors to offer their clients the option of opening a donor advised fund at our Community Foundation.

And we highlighted partnerships with local companies, both big and small, with the launch of our new magazine, GOOD Business – Corporate Philanthropy in Northern Virginia. The first edition of GOOD Business was inserted into a January 2015 edition of the Washington Business Journal and therefore reached their entire readership of more than 16,000 companies in Metro DC. By shining a light on the ever growing role and importance of corporate donors, this new bi-annual publication will help inform, inspire and spark a community dialogue on the future of corporate philanthropy in our region.

As we continuously seek partners for a stronger community, we invite you to reach out to us. Together, we will better understand what needs to be understood and grow the region's philanthropic capacity for a better future.

PARTNERING through INNOVATION

In partnership with the Community Foundation board and staff, the Innovation Fund uses a venture philanthropy model of grant making in which donors to the Innovation Fund find investment opportunities in Northern Virginia that help:

- Diversify the local economy
- Level the playing field for disadvantaged youth
- Promote grass roots innovation

Grants from the Innovation Fund are truly “venture” in nature, supporting nascent programs that, but for the Innovation Fund support, may not have launched. The model takes a long-term view of investing in community and solving local problems, strategically partnering with local nonprofits and schools to launch promising, innovative programs and initiatives that have the potential to transform our region.

Going forward, the Community Foundation is committed to partnering with our innovation fund donors for greater impact.

PARTNERING with BUSINESS WOMEN

In FY2015, the Community Foundation for Northern Virginia's Business Women's Giving Circle ran its inaugural grant cycle, awarding a total of $40,000 to three organizations providing STEM (science, technology, engineering and math) and entrepreneurship programs to girls in Northern Virginia. An additional $2,000 in annual contributions was used to establish an endowment for future giving.

The Business Women's Giving Circle is comprised of women who are successful business leaders looking to empower girls and women in Northern Virginia by preparing them for success through philanthropic support.

“With the launch of the Business Women's Giving Circle's inaugural grant cycle, we successfully met our objective - to empower women and girls to innovate, lead and succeed,” said Faith Boettger, founding member of the Giving Circle and co-chair of the Grants Committee.

“What really makes our relationship with these organizations special is the interest our members have in getting engaged in the programs and working directly with these young women,” said Emily High Daniels, Vice President, Wealth Planning Strategist at Wells Fargo and co-chair of the Grants Committee.

PARTNERING

with YOUNG PROFESSIONALS

Shining a light on an underserved area of need, the Future Fund, the Community Foundation's giving circle of young professionals, voted to support children's access to mental health in 2014-2015. Through a competitive grants process led by Future Fund members, two organizations were selected to receive $20,000 each in funds raised through pooled sponsorship and membership dues.

Since 2011, the Future Fund has inspired hundreds of young professionals to get involved and give back at affordable levels to causes they care about most. The impact of the Future Fund's grants, volunteerism, leadership development, and professional networking has helped solidify its place as one of the region's premiere young professional groups.

"I am proud to be part of an organization of professionals who not only embrace the idea of giving in younger generations, but also embrace underserved areas of need, such as mental health, to support through our pooled contributions," said Sylvia Parsons, Human Resources Business Partner at Northrop Grumman and Future Fund Grants Committee co-chair. "I am constantly impressed at how thoughtful, discerning and committed our members are to funding strong organizations and programs that drive sustainable change in our community."

PARTNERING for COLLECTIVE IMPACT

The Community Foundation joined with the Fairfax County Successful Children and Youth Policy Team (SCYPT)* for a collective impact project to improve outcomes for all of Fairfax County’s children. Collective impact brings together stakeholders from a variety of perspectives to analyze a problem and develop a shared vision of how to solve it. Stakeholders agree to specific outcomes, and develop shared measurement to track progress on the outcomes. Collective impact is characterized by continuous learning and laser focus on achieving the shared outcomes.

Collective impact brings together stakeholders from a variety of perspectives to analyze a problem and develop a shared vision of how to solve it.

A $25,000 grant from the Community Foundation brought in national experts from StriveTogether to facilitate a planning process. This included a design institute where over 150 individuals representing parents, schools, nonprofits, government, the faith community and more worked together to come up with eight shared outcomes for Fairfax County’s children. These outcomes will guide the joint efforts to help all of Fairfax County’s children and youth succeed.

“The opportunity to work with StriveTogether, a national leader in collective impact, really helped our initiative to mature,” said Patricia Harrison, Deputy County Executive. “Using their Theory of Action as a framework for our efforts has positioned Fairfax to achieve the kinds of community-level impacts we’ve long envisioned for our children and youth.”

PARTNERING

in Loudoun

The scope and impact of the Loudoun Impact Fund increased in 2015 with the addition of a new community partner, the Community Foundation for Loudoun and Northern Fauquier Counties. The Loudoun Impact Fund, a giving circle of engaged philanthropists in Loudoun, was created by the Community Foundation of Northern Virginia in 2012. Members awarded $100,000 in grants in the first two years to nonprofits benefiting children and youth in Loudoun County.

The purpose of the Loudoun Impact Fund is to invest strategically in Loudoun County to promote education, the arts and the environment and to support the needs of Loudoun families, children and youth.

The partnership with the Community Foundation for Loudoun and Northern Fauquier Counties was a natural evolution, according to Eileen Ellsworth. “It allows us to bring together more donors who are interested in helping their community and demonstrates that we can increase our impact by working together.” During 2015, the membership increased, and $65,000 was raised for grantmaking. A lead gift by the COATH Fund, a donor advised fund at the Community Foundation for Northern Virginia, seeded the Loudoun Impact Fund and helped grow its forward momentum.

“It allows us to bring together more donors who are interested in helping their community and demonstrates that we can increase our impact by working together.”

The purpose of the Loudoun Impact Fund is to invest strategically in Loudoun County to promote education, the arts and the environment and to support the needs of Loudoun families, children and youth. Each year, giving circle members work together to identify needs and priority areas for the grant cycle.

“It’s a wonderful way to learn more about our community and to target giving where there’s the greatest need,” according to Jim McDermott, of Madison Wealth Management, a corporate donor to the Fund. In FY2016 the Loudoun Impact Fund will be awarding grants to programs that positively impact youth and the elderly in Loudoun County.

PARTNERING

with PROFESSIONAL ADVISORS

The Community Foundation helps professional advisors serve their clients better, build client relationships, and add value to their practice. We partner with dozens of wealth managers, estate planning attorneys and CPAs who frequently refer their clients to us for consultations or invite us to confidential meetings with their clients on charitable giving. Many of these clients become Community Foundation donors that open donor advised funds, scholarship funds, field of interest funds, and designated funds that serve the donor's charitable needs and forever benefit our region.

The Community Foundation helps professional advisors serve their clients better, build client relationships, and add value to their practice.

Catherine F. Schott Murray of Odin Feldman & Pittleman, P.C. is one such professional advisor. An estate planning and trust attorney who has been practicing in the Northern Virginia area for more than 10 years, Catherine recently referred her long-time client, Beatriz McNelly, to the Community Foundation to consult with us about the benefits of opening a donor advised fund.

Beatriz was intrigued by what she heard. She liked the convenience of a donor advised fund, the experience of Community Foundation staff around local charitable giving, the options for anonymous giving and fund permanence that we offer, and the economical value of a donor advised fund vs. the expense of a private foundation. Today, Beatriz's new donor advised fund supports women, children, families, and economically disadvantaged populations.

"As counselors-at-law, our work often does not begin and end with the legal transaction at hand and instead extends into a longer term advisory role in which relationships are built," said Schott Murray. "Connecting Beatriz with the Community Foundation made perfect sense. She was able to leverage this relationship and the Foundation staff's depth of experience to establish an effective financial resource that supports her charitable goals and objectives."

Charitable Planning Techniques – a Win-Win for Donors and Charities.

BB&T Life Insurance Services and John Hancock Insurance were featured in a Community Foundation event for donors and professional advisors called "Charitable Planning Techniques – a Win-Win for Donors and Charities." The event highlighted some innovative ways to use life insurance policies, both existing and new, to help donors reach their charitable goals. The featured speaker was Caroline McKay, an attorney with the Advanced Markets Department at John Hancock Insurance.

PARTNERING for VETERANS

The Community Foundation’s research into the needs of veterans in Northern Virginia showed that there are many services available, but that services are not coordinated. This makes it difficult for a veteran in crisis to find the help he or she needs. The Community Foundation made a commitment to supporting service coordination and direct assistance for veterans and through a competitive process awarded a grant to Serving Together, a program of the Mental Health Association of Montgomery County. Serving Together was already coordinating services in Montgomery County, and the Community Foundation’s Military Fund brought the program to Northern Virginia.

The Community Foundation reached out to other regional funders to help with the effort. Boeing and the Morris and Gwendolyn Cafritz Foundation both joined the Community Foundation in launching Serving Together in Northern Virginia.

“With the Community Foundation’s support and guidance, Serving Together has been able to facilitate new partnerships for collaboration and funding which will help us expand our model for coordinating resources for military veterans and their families into Northern Virginia communities,” said Jessica Fuchs, Project Director, Serving Together, Mental Health Association of Montgomery County. “We look forward to connecting more veterans and their families who want and need local services.”

BECOME A DONOR

Donors can establish funds during their lifetime or as a bequest in their will. Gifts can include cash, cash equivalents, stock, real estate, income from Charitable Remainder Trusts, assets from Charitable Lead Trusts, tangible and intangible property, and other planned gifts including bequests, retirement assets, life insurance policies, pooled income funds, gifts of property with retained life estates, and bargain sales. Choose a fund that works for you.

DONOR FUND OPTIONS

Donor Advised Funds: For as little as $10,000 you can open a donor advised fund with the Community Foundation. Get an immediate tax deduction for your contribution, then continue to advise the Community Foundation on grant making from the fund. A Donor Advised Fund can be either endowed (limits the amount of grants to 5% of the fund balance each year) or short term (allows the entire balance, principal plus interest, to be granted out at any time).

Field of Interest Funds: By establishing a Field of Interest Fund you can target your gift to address needs in an important area of community life. Your gift stays flexible enough to meet community needs in your interest area – even as they change over time.

Designated Funds: When you open a designated fund at the Community Foundation you identify the organizations to whom grants will be given for the entire duration of your fund.

Scholarship Funds: Establish a scholarship fund with the Community Foundation and provide educational scholarships. With this type of fund you are investing in your community's future and showing students you care.

After an extensive search for the vehicle that would enable us to meet our philanthropic objectives, we selected a Donor Advised Fund within the Community Foundation for Northern Virginia as the best option for us. The first time I saw their name on the office building which is just down the street from our house, we took that as a good omen. And the icing on the cake comes from my dog, Tennessee (Tenn for short), loving the staff and them loving him.

- Neil Mahrer, Mahrer Family Fund
